

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention is a weighting system for a pool cue and methods of using the weighting system. The weighting system includes a first internal cavity in a handle portion of the pool cue. A plurality of weights are provided within the internal cavity. By removing the 5 externally threaded rods from the internal cavity, a user may tailor the weight characteristics of the pool cue in accordance with the user's preferences.